

Ms. Karen Owen-Whitred became the Director of the International Safeguards Division of the Canadian Nuclear Safety Commission in February 2012, after ten years of working in safeguards in Canada. In this capacity she is responsible for leading Canada's Safeguards Regulatory Authority, as well as the Canadian Safeguards Support Program. Ms. Owen-Whitred's educational background is in Engineering Physics, with a graduate degree in Public Policy.