

Ms Astrid Morris

Helixos, Australia

Biography

Astrid Morris is a nuclear communications strategist, working with fission and fusion clients around the world. With a background in advertising, she first became interested in nuclear energy when pregnancy motivated her to take climate action for the future. She has since applied her advertising and digital experience to nuclear clients, specialising in creating engaging and creative social content. She is a part of Mothers for Nuclear, Generation Atomic, and WePlanet Denmark.

Originally from Denmark, she has nuclear experience in many countries including the US, Australia, the UK, and France.