

Mr Mitchell Fitzgerald, CEO Nuclear Medicine Unit, University Hospital of the West Indies, Jamaica

Mr Mitchell Fitzgerald is the Chief Executive Officer of the University Hospital of the West Indies (UHWI) in Jamaica and a seasoned executive with over 20 years of healthcare management experience. He holds a Master of Business Administration, a Bachelor of Arts in History, and a Diploma in Institutional Management from the University of Technology, Jamaica, as well as a Postgraduate Certificate in Managing Health Care Delivery from Harvard University.

Under Mr. Mitchell's leadership, UHWI has implemented wide-reaching modernization initiatives, including the digitization of hospital operations and the strategic acquisition of advanced diagnostic equipment. He has overseen the reinstatement and expansion of nuclear medicine services at UHWI and has worked closely with international and regional partners to improve access to high-quality radiation services.