

Mr Jose Fidel Santana Nuñez

Vice Minister of Science, Technology and Environment, Cuba

Jose Fidel Santana Nuñez is Vice Minister of Science, Technology and Environment of Cuba. He majored in nuclear engineering at the University of Havana and holds a Master's degree in Business Administration from the same university. Before undertaking his current position, he was Director of the Nuclear Regulatory Body in Cuba and President of the Cuban Nuclear Agency. He has been working on projects related to the nuclear national program for the last 30 years.